

Construction Project Management Program Assessment Plan

Last Revised 5/11/2009

Catalog Description

This option is intended for individuals that desire a career in construction project management or to enhance current career options related to project management. Course work will emphasize the management duties and management theories needed to properly organize and lead a construction project. Successful completion of this option will result in a Certificate of Achievement in Construction Project Management. The student may choose to continue and complete an Associate in Applied Science Degree in Construction Management or a Certificate in Concrete Construction Management.

Construction Project Management Program Assessment Plan

Learning Outcome

The student will be able to identify construction administration practices.

| Benchmark | Assessment Method | Assessment Date |
|--|---|------------------------|
| 489.1A 75% of students completing CMN 2100 will be able to identify basic construction administration practices. | An exam created and administered by instructor. | 5/1/2011 |