

CLASS OF 2020 COMMENCEMENT

Honoring the 54th
Graduating Class

Saturday, August 8, 2020

OCC Alumni

Begin Your Tradition.

CONGRATULATIONS GRADUATES!

Our graduates tell us how grateful they are for the help they received as students. Guidance and encouragement from faculty and staff, and financial support from OCC Foundation scholarships all help our students achieve success.

Begin your tradition today of helping those who follow. You can honor the person who helped you most at OCC with a gift to the Student Success Fund. Or give to a scholarship for students in your program of study.

Give online at oaklandcc.edu/foundation or call 248.341.2137 or email OCCFoundation@oaklandcc.edu for other options.

OAKLAND COMMUNITY COLLEGE™

Chancellor's Office

August 8, 2020

Dear Graduates,

Congratulations! Graduation is a celebration of YOU!
Your achievements, hard work, and commitment to success culminated in you earning a diploma or certificate – your mark of excellence.

Although we are not able to celebrate your accomplishment in person, we applaud your grit and determination to graduate despite the odds. The courage and commitment you demonstrated was astonishing. On behalf of myself, the Board of Trustees, faculty and staff of OCC, let me express the pride we have in you and your success.

Let me also extend our congratulations to the family and friends who supported your educational journey. With your OCC studies completed, you can embark on a career, obtain the promotion you desire, or transfer to a four-year institution for further studies.

Please keep in touch with your OCC family. Let us know about your accolades and triumphs.

If you can overcome a global pandemic...nothing stands in your way!
Good luck and we wish you all the best in your future endeavors.

Sincerely,

Peter Provenzano, Jr.
Chancellor

So you've got your grad box... now show it off!

- Take a selfie in your cap and grad mask
- Decorate your cap
- Post an "unboxing" video
- Find our Snapchat filter and try it out

Be sure to tag us and use the hashtag #OCCGrad2020!

How to participate in virtual commencement

We may not be celebrating in person, but that doesn't mean we can't get social during commencement!

- Watch our livestream of the ceremony (we'll email you the link!)
- Create your own virtual commencement "watch party" by sharing the live stream to your Facebook account
- Host a Zoom meeting with all your friends and family to watch virtual commencement together
- Take screenshots and post to Facebook, Instagram and Twitter as you watch
- Record a video or take a selfie as your name is called

We'll be sharing all of your pictures and videos leading up to virtual commencement AND all day on 8/8, so don't be shy - tag us and use hashtag #OCCGrad2020!

Guest Speaker

GLENN MCINTOSH

Senior Vice President for Student Affairs and Chief Diversity Officer at Oakland University

The career of Glenn McIntosh is filled with pioneering experiences. He currently holds the dual role of senior vice president for student affairs and chief diversity officer at Oakland University (Rochester, Michigan). This position appointment made him the first person at a major university to hold such a unique role. He provides visionary strategic leadership for one of the largest divisions on campus with more 23 departments. He also serves as the co-chair of the Oakland University and City of Pontiac Partnership Initiative. He has successfully led many campus capital projects including the construction of two residence halls, an outdoor recreation and athletic facility, and a major renovation and expansion of the student union. Additionally, he led the establishment of the Gender and Sexuality Center and the Veterans Support Services Office.

Previously, McIntosh worked as the assistant vice president and dean of student life. He was the founding director of the Academic Advising Resource Center. He also served as the founding director of the Center for Multicultural Initiatives (formerly the Office of Equity) and established the national award-winning Trustee Academic Success Scholarship program. The program consistently yields one of the highest underrepresented minority student retention and graduation rates in the country.

McIntosh shares his time and leadership skills as an active member of many professional and community-based organizations including the Metro Detroit Youth Clubs Board of Trustees, Detroit Area Pre-College Engineering Program (DAPCEP) Board of Directors, Renaissance Unity Spiritual Center Ministerial Team, Southeast Michigan Omega Foundation Incorporated Board of Directors, and Sacred Heart of Michigan Board Member.

He is the recipient of numerous awards including the Michigan Chronicle's Man of Excellence Award; the Novell-Levitz Student Retention Excellence Award; the OU Administrative Professional of the Year Award; the Diversity Excellence Award; the Outstanding Professionals of America Award; the Omega Psi Phi Fraternity Man of the Year Award; and the NAACP Community Leadership Award. An avid bodybuilder, he has won multiple bodybuilding contests among them Mr. Michigan and Mr. Ironman.

A native Detroit, McIntosh earned his master's degree in Community and Agency Counseling from Wayne State University and bachelor's degrees in Sociology and Business Administration from Central Michigan University. He recently completed the prestigious American Association of State Colleges and Universities' Millennium Leadership Institute training program for senior level higher education administrators. He is a licensed professional mental health counselor, minister, and certified strength and conditioning trainer. He lives locally with his wife, Lia.

College Degrees

American colleges and universities confer four general types of degrees – associate, bachelor, master, and doctorate. These represent different levels of academic achievement.

The associate degree normally indicates the completion of two years of collegiate work above the high school level. It is generally thought that this degree is conferred only by community or junior colleges, but in fact, it was conferred in the United States by the University of Chicago in 1900 and is now granted by many four-year colleges as well as by two-year colleges.

The bachelor degree is usually conferred upon the completion of a four-year college curriculum and is the most common, as well as the oldest, collegiate degree used in America. The Bachelor of Arts degree, first conferred by Harvard University in 1642, was the only earned degree used in American colleges for 125 years.

The master degree represents one year of advanced study beyond the bachelor. In some instances, two years are needed to complete required courses in specialized fields.

The doctoral degree is the most advanced degree. It takes at least three years beyond the bachelor level, but often longer, to complete all the requirements of this degree.

Associate Degree Programs

Oakland Community College offers five associate degrees which provide for study in many areas designed to be specialized or general; for employment preparation or in preparation for the pursuit of a higher degree; or for other academic, business, or technological studies. A minimum of 60 credit hours with an overall grade point average of at least 2.00 are fundamental requirements.

Extended Associate Programs

Some degree programs may require that the student complete a sequence of instruction that constitutes 73 credit hours or more. Because this is an institutional requirement which goes beyond the minimum degree requirements, the college recognizes the efforts of students by designating those programs as "Extended Associate Programs."

Graduation with Honors

Students are eligible to graduate with honors according to the following grade point average requirements:

Summa Cum Laude 3.86 - 4.00

Magna Cum Laude 3.66 - 3.85

Cum Laude 3.50 - 3.65

College honor graduates are recognized by a golden cord adorning their academic attire.

Phi Theta Kappa is the only recognized national honor society for community and junior colleges. Students with a GPA of 3.5 or better are eligible for membership. Members are distinguished here today by gold stoles.

A Brief History and Overview of Oakland Community College

A uniquely American institution, community colleges are studied and imitated around the world. Today's community college has grown from its roots providing two-year transfer curriculum in liberal arts and sciences—often referred to as “junior colleges”—adding advanced technical and career education, a wide range of student services, workforce development, and programs to meet community need.

Early Roots

The community college movement received its first major boost when passage of the GI bill enabled huge numbers of veterans to pursue schooling following World War II. Community college growth was again spurred in the 1960s and 70s with the arrival of postwar “baby boomers” and the massive re-entry of women into the workforce. Community colleges proved a source of quality education for both “non-traditional” students, whose family and job responsibilities made it impossible to go away to school, and the traditional 18-20 year old group seeking convenient and affordable advanced education.

Oakland Community College (OCC) was established in 1964, a time when one new community college opened across America each week. Today, there are more than 1,000 such colleges across the United States.

Led by a public-spirited group of citizens who believed Oakland County needed its own community college, OCC began. In the early 1960s, these founding members raised public support and awareness to start a local two-year college open to all. In June 1963, they secured a spot on the ballot to establish and fund this endeavor through a one-mill property tax.

The portion of the proposal authorizing the establishment of the College passed, but the section levying the tax was rejected, and so the entire measure was defeated. The committee immediately began again and, one year later, the entire measure passed, the College established, and a charter Board of Trustees elected.

Building a Foundation

During its first year, the Board purchased the College's first two campuses, Auburn Hills, a demobilized army anti-aircraft missile base, and Highland Lakes, a former county tuberculosis sanatorium. Fittingly, Auburn Hills Campus is home to advanced technology, manufacturing and public safety training centers; Highland Lakes houses many of OCC's health science programs.

The Charter Board also appointed OCC's first president, faculty and staff, and bought an undeveloped tract of land in Farmington Hills upon which the Orchard Ridge Campus was soon constructed.

The need for College services in southeast Oakland County led to the start of the Royal Oak and Oak Park campuses in the 1970s. In 1980, Oak Park operations transferred to a new facility in Southfield.

Students and Programs

On its opening day, OCC set a national community college registration record. Fall 1965 headlines noted 3,860 students enrolled at the College's two campuses. This fall, OCC's registration was more than 15,000 students across its five campuses making OCC one of Michigan's largest community colleges.

For students who plan to continue their education at a four-year institution, OCC has the highest percentage of college transfers in the state of Michigan. Students generally meet transfer requirements by earning an Associate in Arts, Associate in Science, Associates in Applied Science or Associate in Business Administration. Additionally an Associate Degree in General Studies allows students to choose from a wide area of interests.

The College offers nearly 60 associate degrees designed to give students the credentials needed for employment in high-demand technical and career occupations, in five major categories:

- Arts & Communication: including graphic design, music, fine arts, theatre and global studies.
- Business, Management and IT: including accounting, business administration, business management, cybersecurity, systems analysis, software engineering, international commerce and paralegal.
- Health Sciences: including dental hygiene, nursing, health care administration, medical assisting, respiratory therapy, radiologic technology, diagnostic medical sonography and surgical technology.
- Human Services: including education, hospitality and culinary arts, sign language interpreter, criminal justice, emergency medical services, firefighter, law enforcement and mental health/social work.
- Engineering/Manufacturing and Industrial and Technology: including automobile servicing, computer-aided design, construction management, mechatronics, machine tooling, welding, robotics and automated systems technology.

The College also offers more than 40 certificate programs in career fields where course accomplishments are required.

OCC and You

From its spirited beginnings, OCC has enrolled over one million students, nearly the equivalent of half of Oakland County's population. We are honored and proud to count each of our graduates who continue to make history, every day.

Academic Regalia

Lending color to the pageantry of the Commencement Exercise are the academic robes and hoods worn by the faculty. This regalia reaches back to medieval times when it served a functional as well as an ornamental role, separating learned men from other groups, as well as offering warmth and protection.

In late nineteenth century America, a conference was held by representatives of colleges and universities to bring some order and system to the custom of academic dress. Since then, there have been periodic conferences to revise or reconfirm existing practices.

Essentially, holders of the associate degree wear robes unadorned in the school's color or pearl-gray. Holders of the bachelor degree wear black robes unadorned. Holders of the master degree wear hoods which are lined with the colors of the college conferring the degree and trimmed with the color representing the subject in which the degree was earned. The doctoral robe is adorned with velvet and is also worn with the hood suitably ornamented.

The following list reflects the colors which will be found on hoods worn in the academic procession at this Commencement Exercise and the subject each color represents:

Agriculture	Maize
Arts, Letters, Humanities	White
Commerce, Accountancy, and Business	Drab
Dentistry	Lilac
Economics	Copper

Oakland Community College Mace

Crown of the Mace

Oakland Community College Mace

LOGO (1994 to 2018)

LOGO (1969 to 1994)

LOGO (1965 to 1969)

LOGO (2018 to Current)

The Academic Mace, used to lead ceremonial processions and indicate the official opening of the ceremony, links Oakland Community College to an academic tradition first recorded by historians in 1385 at the University of Vienna. A descendant of the medieval battle mace, the modern mace is used as a ceremonial staff in solemn processions preceding college officials. The Mace is an emblem expressing the dignity, authority and prestige of the college and serves as a symbolic weapon to protect and proclaim the values and ideals of harmony, truth, justice and learning.

The Oakland Community College Mace is 37 inches long and weighs about seven pounds. The Mace has a five-sided column constructed of sturdy red oak with inlaid purple heart wood. The current and historical logos of the college are inset on the column. A four inch bronze college seal is affixed to the crown of the Mace.

The Mace was designed and built in 1997 by Mickey L. Glover, a retired craftsman from Oakland Community College.
